Alternate Work Location

Employees are expected to work at the work location designated by Oklahoma State University. Designation of the work location is based on the operational needs of the unit. However, in an effort to provide a flexible and supportive work unit, an alternate work location may be requested. Approval for an alternate work location must be endorsed by the unit administrator/dean and approved by the appropriate vice president. An alternate work location is not an employee entitlement and may be terminated at any time by the supervisor or administrative official and/or the employee.

Guidelines for Alternate Work Location

Within the operating needs of the department, unit administrators have the flexibility to work with employees in order to accommodate commuting and other needs of employees within the following guidelines:

- Alternate work location programs are at the discretion of the unit administrator and approved in advance by the appropriate unit administrator and Dean with final approval by the appropriate Vice President. The attached forms are for documentation of this approval and should be kept within departmental and Vice President records.
- The approval of an alternate work location depends upon the job duties to be performed and may not be suitable for all positions or departments. Alternate work locations must not jeopardize or impact normal operations or hamper teamwork and unit results.
- There should be consistency in the work location. Work locations should not vary from day-to-day, week-to-week.
- Work hours of the regular work location must be maintained at the alternate work location. Failure to maintain such hours will result in return to regular work location. All employees using alternate work locations, regardless of exemption status, shall keep time records to ensure that appropriate work schedules and leave policies are observed.
- The designated alternate work location is considered an extension of the department's workspace and must maintain a professional atmosphere and decorum.
- The alternate work location must constitute a safe working environment and is governed by the provisions of workers' compensation during the agreed upon work hours while performing work-related duties. The employee will immediately report to their supervisor job-related accidents which occur at the alternate work location during the agreed upon work hours while performing work-related duties. The employee is responsible for completing the Alternate Work Location Safety Checklist with the supervisor and agrees to inspection at the request of a designated University official.
- Alternate work locations, if available, should be offered uniformly to all employees whose positions may allow for an alternate work location. When requests conflict, a fair and impartial means must be used to grant requests. Alternate work locations are not available for new employees during the first 90 days of employment or for employees with any current corrective action.

- An approved alternate work location must be reviewed after the first three months and thereafter on an annual basis to determine the value and success of such action.

Advantages of Alternate Work Locations

- Alternate work locations allow employees flexibility in meeting personal needs.
- Alternate work locations can increase employee retention, loyalty, and morale.
- Alternate work locations can improve the University's ability to recruit employees and can reduce turnover and can assist departments in hiring individuals who may be otherwise unavailable.

Things to Remember About Alternate Work Locations

- Not every position is suited to certain types of alternate work locations. The unit administrator is responsible to set work locations that meet the operating needs of the unit.
- To be successful, the program must "work" for both employees and the unit.
- Communication is key. Supervision and supervisory feedback is still necessary.
- Consistency and fairness is important with this employment aspect as in all employment practices.
- Alternate work locations would typically be voluntary.

Questions regarding these practices can be addressed to OSU Human Resources, (405) 744-5373.

OSU Human Resources developed this information for the convenience of OSU employees. It is a brief interpretation of more detailed and complex materials. If further clarification is needed, the actual law, policy, and contract should be consulted as the authoritative source.
