SOCIAL SECURITY CARDS OR NUMIDENTS REQUIRED

Each employee provides Payroll with a copy of his/her social security card as part of the payroll sign-up process. This card is used to guarantee that the employee’s name is spelled correctly, his/her social security number is correct, and the earnings are properly reported to the IRS and Social Security Administration. It is essential that the names and numbers match up exactly with the federal files.

In lieu of a social security card, an employee may provide an abbreviated Numident, which is a document issued by the local Social Security Office that lists the employee’s social security number and full name. The Social Security Office may charge for this information.

It is important for departments to alert recruits or prospective employees that a copy of their social security card is required for employment at OSU. This will prepare employees to have their social security card available upon employment.
